3. Teaching

At the Open University teaching is carried out in the distance education mode. Learners in the distance education mode are self-learners who have to take responsibility for their own learning. Teaching / learning at the Open University is a combination of many elements which require your active participation. Teaching will consist of:

- I. Printed material
- II. Day school sessions
- III. Supplementary audio visual material
- IV. Selected courses in the blended- mode (face-to-face & online)

You will be given printed material for the six (6) courses which you are expected to study and understand. This material will be supplemented by day school session which involves face-to-face teaching and online instruction. There will be plenty of opportunity for discussion and group work in these day schools (Please note that you are expected to read the relevant course material before the day school. This will help you to participate in the discussions). In addition you will also be expected to view audio visual material and participate in the online components when instructed to do so by the lecturer/s.

4. Guidelines for Study

The minimum time necessary to complete the OUSL Diploma in English Language & Literature Programme is one year. The Diploma in English Language & Literature Programme comprises 6 courses. Each course has a 05 credit rating. This means that you are expected to spend 250 hours of study per course. The study times for a course will be spent on –

- Reading course material
- Reading set texts
- Attending day schools
- Participating in online discussions and activities
- Preparation for CAs and Final Examinations
- Research and additional reading at the library

You should keep in mind that you will be studying for more than one of the 6 courses at one and the same time. This means that you should be prepared to spend the same amount of time and effort on each course.

We would like to emphasize that it is an advantage to spend more time than the suggested minimum for a course as suggested above.

5. Scheme of Assessment

The evaluation for each course will consist of

- a. Continuous Assessment
- b. Final Evaluation

a. Continuous Assessment

All courses at each Level have a Continuous Assessment (CA) component. It may include take home assignments, as well as tests in class. A course will consist of at least 2 CAs. At the end of this booklet you will find a set of guidelines on how to present your assignments.

The CA component is an important element in the teaching/learning process at the OUSL. You are strongly advised to do both CAs for each course and do them well in order to secure a pass grade, since the CA marks contribute towards your overall final evaluation and impact significantly on your passing the final examination

The mark for the CA component is calculated by taking the average of the two marks gained for the CAs. For example, if your CA1 mark is 50 and your CA2 is 60, your final Overall Continuous Assessment Mark (OCAM) would be $\frac{50+60}{2} = 55$ marks.

The CAs will contribute 50% towards your overall grade and mark, i.e. if your OCAM = 55, then the contribution towards your Final Overall Mark will be $\frac{55 \times 50}{100} = 27.5$.

b. Final Evaluation

Final evaluation will be in the form of a final examination or in the form of a project. The final examination will contribute 50% toward your overall grade.

Based on the Overall Assessment Mark (Z%) of a student in respect of any course a student shall be awarded a grade as follows:

Mark Range (Z%)	Grade	Grade Point Value (GPV)
85-100	A+	4.0
75-84	A	4.0
70-74	A-	3.7
63-69	B+	3.3
55-62	B	3.0
50-54	B-	2.7
45-49	C+	2.3
40-44	C	2.0
35-39	C-	1.7
30-34	D+	1.3
20-29	D	1.0
00-19	E	0.0

A+, A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+,C constitute Pass Grades

Please note that if a student fails either the final exam or the final project he/she is required to re-sit that particular course. Such students are called re-sit students. This means that you have to sit the final exam or do the project once again. The CA marks obtained for the course will be valid for a period of one year only during which you are required to re-sit the final exam.

A student who fails to obtain 40% as the overall assessment mark (both CA mark + final examination mark) is deemed to have failed that course. Such students are called repeat students; this means that you may repeat the course by re-registering which requires you to do the CAs as well as the final examination again.

It should be noted that a student who either repeats a course or re-sits an examination shall not be awarded a grade higher than “C” in respect of that course irrespective of the marks obtained. It should also be noted that if you repeat a course you have to pay double the fee.
